Business Objection:

To equip one of the halls with the conference system with the possibility of simultaneous translation.

Solution:

CCS 800 conference system was installed as an example of very successful combination of good quality of sound, interesting design and very good price.

For the simultaneous translation it was decided to install infra red channel transmitters.

Result:

The users of the system note excellent characteristics of the system which allow to structure the discussion and provide the excellent audibility and legibility of speech.
